JAPS PUTTING ON MONEY PRESSURE

Intensifies Financial Exploitation of Conquered Areas

(By Associated Press) Japan has intensified her financial exploitation of conquered territories to help finance a stratospheric war budget. Extraordinary military appropriations, obediently approved in the recent special diet session, raised the current budget to 76,352,000,000 yen (about $19,085,000,000 at pre-war exchange rates).

This is more than five times greater than the unusually high 1939 budget and more than 70 times the normal national expenditure before the current war period began in 1931.

Military appropriations total 63 billion yen, nearly double the 1943-44 expenditures.

But "Greater East Asia" will provide much of this revenue through tribute euphemistically termed

"loans." The main source will be from notes issued by the Southern Regions Development Bank, a gigantic monopolistic agency exploiting the raw materials of the Philippines, the Netherlands East Indies and Malaya.

Currency manipulation, abnormal trading profits and the looting of resources are standard Japanese practices throughout the empire. Pyramided taxes and enforced purchases of war bonds reach most of the conquered subjects.

Bond sales, known as "savings" campaigns, recently included a new wrinkle in Manchuria, the laboratory where exploitation measures are tested first. All patrons of restaurants and bars are required to buy, on the spot, "savings" stamps corresponding to a certain percentage of their checks.

A series of Japanese broadcasts, heard by U. S. government monitors, reported these developments.

The Tokyo radio also reported that Japan's military expenditures totaled 139,128,000,000 yen (about $34,782,000,000) since the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese war in 1937. This figure may have been doctored downward.

TELLS HOW CHIEF SAVED HIS LIFE

180-Pound Soldier Carried Down Trail By Part-Indian Aide

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Pvt. Harold D. Ballard, 21-year-old infantryman of Corinth, Miss., declared here that he would ever be grateful to a man he knew only as "Chief" who saved his life from Japanese guns by carrying him to safety after Private Ballard was wounded in a jungle trail above Aitape, New Guinea.

The sturdy, red-checked young doughboy described his rescue in an interview at Letterman General Hospital here, upon his return to the United States.

Private Ballard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wordie Ballard of R. F. D. 4, Corinth, was a member of an ammunition and pioneer platoon in the 32nd infantry division.

"I was carrying ammunition up this trail," Private Ballard said. "Ahead of me, our assault companies were battling the Japs for a ridge. The trail was hardly worthy of being called that, for it was narrow and steep and there was scarcely a place where a man could get a footing. In the dense growth on the heights that overlooked the trail Jap snipers were hidden, and the Nips were pouring mortar fire on it, too."

"But it wasn't a sniper or a mortar shell that got me. It was a booby trap—a concealed mine. I put my foot down on what looked like a moss-covered rock and set off the mine. The whole hillside seemed to open up with a roar. My legs buckled under me and I went down."

"I had a broken leg and a lot of steel in various parts of my body, and I was in a tough spot, because the explosion had tipped the Japs off to the fact that something had happened and they'd have been on me in a minute if I'd had to stay there."

"Word was quickly passed along up the trail to our company medical aid man, a big, grinning fellow who was part Indian and whom we called 'Chief.' I never knew any other name for him."

"Chief" appeared out of nowhere. He was grinning, as usual, and the sight of him surely made me feel better. He leaned down close to me and said, 'Don't worry, Bud. You'll be all right.' He gave me first aid and a little morphine to ease my pain. Then he lifted me and slung me across his shoulders."

Private Ballard told of a descent down a twisting trail under a sudden hail of machinegun fire from a hidden Japanese position. He said the sure-footed "Chief," alternately swearing at the Japs and reassuring the wounded man, made his way from one bit of cover to another, and as the hours passed, the infantry medic seemed to become stronger.

"Every once in a while," Private Ballard said, "he'd put me down to give me a drink of water. I weighed around 180 pounds and it was no joke taking a fellow that big down that slippery, curving trail, and I asked the chief whether he wasn't tired, and he'd just answer, 'Don't worry, Bud. We'll make it.'"

"The first aid station was four miles from the place where I set off the mine, and it took us eight hours to make it—but we made it, and if it hadn't been for him I'd probably have been a dead duck up there on that jungle trail."

Besides the Purple Heart, Private Ballard wears the Combat Infantryman's Badge, awarded for exemplary conduct in action against the enemy. He was in action six months, in the front lines most of the time, from Saipan to Aitape.

sador and chairman of the British delegation, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, chairman of the Chinese delegation, and Stettinius issued a joint statement formally announcing a "satisfactory conclusion" of the talks and declaring that the delegations had arrived at an "agreed set of proposals for the general framework of an international organization and the machinery required to maintain peace."

In broad outline the design is somewhat similar to that for the League of Nations, consisting of a council of all nations and a council of a few, including permanent membership of the great powers. Still unsettled is the crucial issue of voting on questions of aggression when some nations threaten to start a war.

The voting machinery could not be finally fitted together because Russia desired to retain a veto power over any charge of aggression which might be brought against her. The United States and Britain insisted that any of the great powers so charged should leave the decision up to the others.

Some compromise proposal was expected to be worked out eventually, the council is to function effectively, informed officials here believe that a compromise may be achieved through a meeting of President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

POLAND COUNTS ON U. S. AND BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Poland's chief government counts upon united support of Britain and United States in an early meeting of the "big three" as the last hope for bridging its widening split with Russia and preventing the possibility of a Polish civil war.

Top-ranking Polish officials, mourning the disaster of Warsaw, have decided to halt their policy of conciliation, initiated under Prime Minister Chlodziebski, and will sit waiting for Moscow to make the move, it was learned today.

As part of this stand, the government of Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk unofficially has decided to block news of its diplomatic rackering, aware that its case has become a serious factor in British-American relations.

Cabinet members have developed increasing reluctance to go as far as Mikolajczyk has proposed in dealing with the Soviet Union, it was learned today.

Army And Navy Hospitals Take Care Of Ill Or Injured Men

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Army and navy hospitals take care of the ill, injured or wounded service men. That is the aim of the new legislation that can be given him, one of three things happens:
1. He is able to go back on active duty.
2. He is found unfit for active duty, is discharged for disability, can ask for a pension, and is sent back into civilian life.
3. He is found not only unfit for active duty but in need of prolonged or permanent hospital treatment, in that case he is discharged from the military service, can ask for a pension, and is transferred to a veterans hospital nearest his home.

These veterans hospitals are operated by the Veterans Administration (VA). In group No. 3 could be cases like those: Tuberculosis, mental derangement, blindness, heart disease, severe asthma, and badly crippled men.

But what of veterans who, because of their disability connected with their military service, need hospital treatment any time after their discharge from the service?

Any honorably discharged veteran, who has a disability connected with his military service, can get free treatment any time after his discharge at any VA hospital.

It is all free to him: Transportation to the hospital, bed, operations, medicine, nursing, food, as long as he needs hospitalization.

Suppose the same class of veteran—honorably discharged—doesn't need to stay in a hospital but does need medical service or dental care for a condition caused or aggravated by his military service?

That would be called outpatient treatment. He could get that free, too, and at his home, in his own apartment, by appointment and on a regular basis. He also gets this from the VA.

What about the veteran who has no permanent disability, but who has been out of the service for years and is suddenly stricken with a serious illness? Can he get free hospitalization?

Yes, if he was not dishonorably discharged and if he has been in the service for at least 90 days. If he can't pay for his hospitalization, he can get it free. If he can't pay for his hospitalization, he can get it free.

The VA also has a special fund for the care of veterans who have a permanent disability. It is called the "Compensation and Pensions" fund. It is a fund for the care of veterans who have a permanent disability.

WILL DISCUSS PLAN FOR SAVING PAPER

A mass meeting of all retail merchants in the Twin Cities will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of giving consideration to a request made by the War Production Board to the Chamber of Commerce Merchant Division to declare a paper holiday in the Twin Cities as a means of conserving paper. It was announced today by G. L. Holloway, chairman of the Merchant Division.

The shortage of paper has reached a critical stage according to the information supplied by the War Production Board. The absolute minimum use for wrapping packages is not only desired, but necessary. Every merchant is not only invited but urged to attend the meeting by Mr. Holloway, who requested the buying public to begin today in making their plans for new shopping practices. He requested shoppers, especially in grocery stores, to begin making plans to carry with them containers for groceries. He also requested that everyone be carried unwrapped. The War Production leader requested that all merchants leave articles unwrapped.

LOCAL YOUTH IS WAR-TIME BAKER

Billy Reppond Tells Of Experiences; In Honduras Revolution

Billy Reppond, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Reppond Sr., 607 St. John street, is enjoying a short furlough from his duty as cook 2/c and is at home here for the next few days after which he expects to be on a shuttle run in the Pacific. He served 18 months in the marine corps, was honorably discharged, and then went on after with the merchant marines. All told he has been in service since April, 1942.

He has had some interesting experiences in the Caribbean and once was in Honduras when a revolution broke out. He and four associates were clapped in jail there but they made a quick jail break. When outside they managed to imitate natives carrying huge loads of banana clusters to shipboard and in this way escaped to safety. Reppond said he never expected to become a baker but declared that one ought to eat the apple pie he is able to concoct. He said his mother has arranged that he bake the family bread supply over the week-end and he is quite willing to show his skill. "War does funny things when it turns an ordinary chap into a good baker in short order," he declared.

Mr. Loftin, who has had 14 years experience in the loan business, will manage the company. He will be assisted by Miss Lena Bell Brauer, who has had 18 months experience in the business.

Mr. Loftin has resided in Monroe for eight years and has been active in civic and business affairs here. He is a member of the Lions Club.

Mr. Griffin also is well known here as a successful young businessman. He has long been a motor boat enthusiast, and has operated a motor boat and motorcycle agency on South Grand street for many years.

OPA ATTORNEY RESIGNS
SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 6.—(AP)—J. Palmer, Shreveport attorney, today resigned as enforcement attorney for the Shreveport district of the Office of Price Administration. He had held the position for 18 months. Palmer said his resignation had no connection with the recent ouster of District Administrator J. E. Brumfield.

CONGRESS WILL LOOK INTO JOBS

Expected To Take Up Matter Of Post-War Work In November

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Busy now with politics, Congress probably will start looking for ways to provide post-war work for civilians and soldiers when it reconvenes November 14.

There may be action, too, on proposals for peace time military training. In the field of post-war employment and insurance against unemployment, congressional committees are getting ready to pry into the question of how far the federal government should go in providing aid and protection. Other committees already have studied the possible design for a peace time tax structure which would encourage reconversion business. Probably legislation won't be ready until next year.

But Public Works measures, fashioned to provide a reservoir of jobs if they are needed, are farther along. The House already has passed a $800,000,000 flood control bill and a $400,000,000 river and harbor measure. They have received Senate committee approval, with the addition of nearly $200,000,000 to the former and $100,000,000 to the latter. Backers are pressing for early Senate consideration.

Awaiting House action is Senate-approved legislation for a three-year $2,800,000,000 program for building high speed highways and an improved rural road network.

On a couple of items, Congress is facing year-end deadlines. One is the expiring Second War Powers act, carrying authority for rationing, priorities and allocations. Republicans and Democrats agree that it will be continued, although there may be extensive debate on the need for eliminating war-time controls as soon as possible.

Also requiring attention before the year ends is the issue of again for building an automatic increase in Social Security pay-roll taxes. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, has announced that the taxes be frozen for another year.

A score of more government agencies are interested today in a forthcoming defense appropriation bill which will guarantee their existence into 1945. These agencies created by presidential executive order and Congress told them they could have no more money after December 31 unless they received legislative authorization.

Mr. Brown of the Monroe in 1899, president of the Ouachita Parish High School. For four years he is to that position in combination with that of the parish superintendent. Until his death, which occurred October 11, 1911, he continued to serve as superintendent. He dreamt of a junior college for the parish and was active in its realization. He died at the age of 71, after a long and useful life.

Dr. J. C. Griffin, in recognition of the many contributions made by T. O. Brown to the education of the parish, has decided to dedicate the new building to his memory. The building will be known as the T. O. Brown Hall.

In the fall of 1944, a new building for the junior college will be completed. It will be a four-story building, 100 feet long and 40 feet wide. It will contain 100 classrooms, a library, a gymnasium, and a cafeteria. It will be the largest building of its kind in the parish.

The building will be dedicated to the memory of T. O. Brown, who was a pioneer in the education of the parish. He was a man of vision and courage, and his work will live on in the new building.

WILL BURY ASHES OF IRVIN S. COBB

PADUCAH, Ky., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The ashes of Irvin S. Cobb, famous writer and humorist who died last March 19, in New York, will be buried in Oak Grove Cemetery here tomorrow at 2 p. m. and it probably will be the largest funeral ever conducted in Paducah, Cobb's home town, and the place where he started his writing career as a cub reporter on a Paducah newspaper.

But, with one or two minor exceptions, it will follow in detail the wishes of Cobb, who outlined his plans on funeral in a letter sent to friends here and opened after his death.

Cobb's ashes will be sprinkled around the roots of a newly-planted dogwood tree in the center of a half-acre lot in the cemetery which figured in several of his stories. His father and mother are buried nearby.

A Neighbors' assembly, by Mattie Caldwell, organist, serving in the Cobb home, will sing "Deep River" and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." Tom Walker, Paducah attorney, will speak briefly and the Rev. Joe L. Walker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will read the 23rd Psalm.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Curtis Fletcher, pastor of Grace Episcopal Church.

REDS SEIZE

miles away on the south, battling in the hills north of Mako.

In Yugoslavia's Banat district to the south, meanwhile, other Soviet troops were moving swiftly to outflank the lower Hungarian border, and preparing to cross the Tisza river above its confluence with the Danube not far from Belgrade, threatened Yugoslav capital.

Other Soviet units striking across the eastern Serbian mountains below Belgrade were reported within 30 miles of the Belgrade-Nis railway, cutting of which would trap an estimated 150,000 German troops strung out through southern Yugoslavia and Albania and fighting the British invasion of Greece.

Moscow announced simultaneously that Red army units had begun a great pincer movement on German East Prussia, attacking beyond Siauliai in western Lithuania, and also crossing the Narew river at Pultusk, 29 miles north of Warsaw and 33 miles from the lower east Prussian frontier. At least 200 Nazi tanks were knocked out in two days, Moscow said, when the Germans tried to bridge the bridgehead on the right bank.

"Great battles" are going on west of Siauliai, 75 miles southwest of embattled Riga, the Russians said, adding significantly, "fighting is proceeding with the superiority on the side of the Soviet troops."

A Berlin broadcast hinted at what Moscow had not yet told—that the Russians in their long combat are going over to the offensive with 200,000 troops—had penetrated within 20 miles of the northeastern corner of East Prussia. The Soviet units were astride the Siauliai-Taurage road at a point west of Raseiniai, Berlin commentators disclosed in their battle reports.

"Deep penetrations" of the German lines in the area were acknowledged by Berlin which claimed, however, that the Russians still had not achieved their major objective of breaking through to the Baltic sea and thus cutting off all the German troops at Riga and in northwestern Latvia.

North and east of Riga, Russian troops renewed their drive on that toughly-defended Latvian capital, capturing 100 localities on an arc ranging from 22 to 25 miles from the city.

Take a trip on this Tragic "Magic Carpet"

1 You land first, let's say, in Athens. You're walking down the street. A sick child collapses before your eyes. If, in your pocket, you had the medicine to save her, would you give it? Would you? You would!

2 Or you're on a mountain road in Yugoslavia. It's ankle deep in snow, and knife-sharp rutted ice tears at the half bare feet of the guerilla fighter struggling on his way. On his way—if you please—to blow up a railroad bridge and plunge a trainload of Nazi troops and supplies to destruction. Would you give him a pair of shoes to help him on his mission? Would you? And how would you?

The magic carpet whisks you, this time, right back here to our town for the moment. A sacred, sullen girl stands before a magistrate. Another case of war-time "juvenile delinquency." Father in service. Mother in a factory. Clearly a girl who needs help, guidance, counsel. Would you give it if you could? Well, you can!

4 All aboard . . . for the South Pacific. A God-forsaken post populated mostly with Marines and mosquitoes. It's raining. There's nothing to do between sessions of killing Japs. Suppose you could provide the boys with a swell show . . . one of Hollywood's top-flight entertainers, in the flesh. And pass out cigarettes, chocolate, "cokes." Give a party for the guys who are fighting your fight. Would you? You would!

5 Next stop . . . China. The rubbled remains of a little village visited once again by the "Sons of Heaven." They're freezing for lack of fuel, starving for food, dying because there isn't any medicine to fight disease. For five years, they've been our fighting allies, and the Japs haven't liked them yet. Would you help them to keep on fighting . . . on our side? Would you? You would!

On and on it goes . . . the world around. And that is why this new, simple, streamlined, efficient way to help has been created. Our community's war fund in which The National War Fund participates. Your personal "magic carpet" is a check that whisks your dollars and your money everywhere they are needed. And . . . you give once . . . and for all! In one stroke of your pen you help to keep our fighting allies fighting, you help to provide for local needs right here at home, you help to keep up the morale of our fighting forces throughout the world through the USO. Seventeen War Agencies and our own local agencies are banded together to do these complex, global jobs. Look over the list. Figure out what you'd give each agency. Add it up . . . and double it! It isn't for "charity" it's for VICTORY!

Confidentially

From ancient Ceylon, land of temples, monasteries, and dagabas rivaling the Pyramids in magnitude, comes an interesting letter from Lt. Durwood Griffin of this city who is stationed there with the United States army combat photography unit.

Far off lands such as Ceylon where the great figure of Buddha, dominates the scene, spell magic for the ordinary American. Lieutenant Griffin evidently feels the magic of the country judging from the letters he writes home. Rubbing elbows with elephants and watching giant cobras engage in deadly battle is a daily occurrence.

Let him tell you in his own words about Ceylon: "At this moment it's raining to beat the devil. In a few minutes the sun will probably be shining. This is the tail-end of the monsoon season. Everyone is quite worried because there has been so little rain this season they fear a drought."

"This place is quite different from Australia. There, although years behind, it was still western civilization and the people were white, but here it is the eastern civilization, and the people are black."

"Ever since I arrived I have been going around with my eyes wide open staring at everything, but my eyes just aren't big enough to take in all the beauties and wonders of this country. I hardly know where to begin to describe what I have seen. I am afraid that my description will be far short of the true picture."

"I will tell you of the people. They are known as Ceylonese. Most of them are small of stature, average height being about five feet. Unlike the Indians of India, who are as a whole a sullen and unfriendly lot, the Ceylonese are quite cheerful and friendly. When it comes to thievery they aren't nearly so bad as the Indians but they are bad enough. It isn't safe to leave anything of any value unguarded for even a moment. When buying anything from them you ask them the price and then offer them about a third of that price. After considerable bargaining you usually purchase the article for about half of the price."

"Ceylon is famous for its jewels: rubies, sapphires and star sapphires mainly. When this unit was first established, those that got here first found quite a few bargains in jewels, but now these that are buying them are being swindled right and left, paying very high prices for cheap imitations. Anyone who knows a good stone when he sees one can still buy them, but at a much higher price than before the boom. It is foolish for anyone who does not know a good stone from a bad one to attempt to buy one because he'll get gyped every time."

"Here in Ceylon it is quite pleasant. Sometimes in the afternoon it gets fairly hot, but the nights are very cool. We are about two thousand feet above sea level. On the coast it is unbearably hot and sticky. Our headquarters is located in a botanical garden, one of the finest in the world. Although the gardens are beautiful I don't think that they compare with the natural beauty of Ceylon."

"I live in a grass hut called a basha. It's not bad at all. My room is about 15 feet by 25 feet. The only trouble is you never know what you are going to find when you turn on the light at night. Not long ago a cobra was found in one of the bashes. He got away and we have been looking for him ever since. Now and then you see a huge spider but you don't kill it because it eats the smaller spiders and bugs. It's better to have one large spider than a bunch of smaller ones.

The other day Lieutenant Taub, our supply officer, found an immense frog on his wash basin. You just never know what'll be there."

"We do not have running water in our bashes but we have Ceylonese boys that keep us well supplied at all times with a large pitcher of water. These boys take care of the bashes, clean them up, make up the beds, take care of our laundry, keep fresh flowers on the table, keep our shoes shined. In fact, they do all the jobs that a valet would do. They're very handy to have around as long as you don't leave anything out that they can steal."

"I got quite a shock the other morning when I went rushing out of my basha and almost ran slap into an elephant. To be sure it was a tame one but I wasn't expecting a visit from an elephant. There are quite a few elephants in Ceylon, both wild and tame ones.

"As Americans do in most places, we eat in good style. Our officers' mess has the reputation of being the best mess in this theater. Last night for dinner I had cream of tomato soup, lettuce and tomato salad, steak, potatoes, string beans, and ice cream and cake. We have plenty of fruit juices, grapefruit, pineapple and tomatoes and plenty of tropical fruit.

"These isn't much to do in the way of entertainment except go to the picture show. There's a dance twice a week but I haven't bothered to go. We have two very good tennis courts right next to my basha. I never thought that I would ever be playing tennis in Ceylon."

Mrs. Joe Fazzina, of Shreveport, returned Friday after attending the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. Estelle Keller.

Pleasant Evening In Colvert Home

Members Of Northeast Junior College Faculty Are Charming Entertainment

Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Colvert entertained with characteristic graciousness, members of Northeast Junior College faculty, their wives and husbands, in their hospitable home overlooking picturesque Bayou DeSiard.

Throughout the reception suite were artistic arrangements of gay blossoms including Mexican sunflowers, mammoth asters and ranunculus.

When the hostess greeted her guests, she was wearing a long coral silk model with white asters. Receiving her was Miss May Read who chose for the occasion a becoming frock with old-fashioned floral designs with which she wore a corsage of pink rosebuds.

It was a happy time which gave opportunity for the exchange of rumors, study or limited travel, as well as the mingling of many of them who had been too busy for many social gatherings. Adding to the enjoyment of the evening were musical features presented by Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, newcomers to Monroe, who are members of the college faculty. Mrs. Grant, teacher of violin, gave several selections accompanied by her husband, who is head of the music department here. He also played piano numbers which were well received.

The dining table, covered with a handsome lace cloth, held a centerpiece of Guernsey lilies and blue salvia arranged with considerable artistry in a low bowl that was reflected in an oblong plaque. In two-branched crystal holders on either side were burning tapers that cast a soft glow and created a pretty effect. From one end of the table lime frappe in a large crystal bowl was served by Mrs. E. J. Brown, who wore a lovely aqua ensemble, and Mrs. W. R. Hammond, who chose a lovely floral taffeta. Silver and crystal holders containing a variety of confections, were passed among the guests by Miss Beth Thompson who was in a blue frock of fitted silk bodice and long, full net skirt trimmed in bands of blue silk, and Miss Juanita Dupree who was in a pretty rose model with a closely fitting waist and bouffant skirt. Both wore blossoms in their hair.

Luncheon At Virginia Hotel Lovely Affair

One of the most distinctive luncheons of the season took place in the Cameo room of the Virginia Hotel last week with Mrs. H. J. Y. Moss of Washington, D. C., the charming hostess and Mrs. Thomas Lewis of Ruston, the guest of honor.

The luncheon table, beautifully serviced, had for central floral decor a wide spreading plaque of flowers in all the vivid shades of autumn. Corsages, marking covers for each guest created lovely splashes of color around the table.

A delicious four course luncheon was served to the hostess and her guest of honor, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Weldon Stone, Mrs. Nick Nash, Mrs. H. E. Proffit Jr., Miss Helen Madden, Mrs. R. G. Taylor and Mrs. Dan Gilbert.

Club Women Will Attend Convention

Important Meeting Of Women Will Be Held Next Month In Baton Rouge

Two days early in November will be important ones for the members of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs for the 45th annual convention is set for the second and the third of the month in Baton Rouge. Headquarters will be at the Heidelberg Hotel, with the state president, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale of this city, presiding. The guest of honor and the principle speaker on the two-day program will be the national president, Mrs. LaFell Dickinson.

The state officers in attendance will be:

First vice-president, Mrs. Samuel Levy, Natchitoches, La.; second vice-president, Mrs. H. M. Mims, 2821 Zee-land avenue, Baton Rouge, La.; recording secretary, Mrs. James Means, Vivian, La.; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. V. Collins, 1413 North Second street, Monroe, La.; treasurer, Mrs. Clyde W. Johnson, 8210 Hickory street, New Orleans, La.; auditor, Mrs. G. C. Van Neste, DeRidder, La.; parliamentarian, Dr. Grace B. Agate, 315 Convent street, Lafayette, La.

Subjects of such vast importance as "black markets, juvenile delinquency, character building and crime prevention, restricted immigration, will engage the interest of every club woman who attends this convention, considered by many to be the most important in the forty-five years of the federated clubs' existence.

Mrs. Paul T. Wright of this city, state publicity chairman, is of the belief that more club women will be in attendance at this year's convention than ever before in the history of the federation. Subjects of great importance to every thinking woman today will come up for discussion some time during the two-day session.

Perhaps the most important subject under discussion will be the Black Markets. In the resolutions at the state convention will be the following:

RESOLVED, That the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in convention assembled, November, 1944, condemn the disloyal practice on the part of citizens in seeking advantage by patronizing such black markets; and be it further:

RESOLVED, That all persons and agencies possessing powers of enforcement be urged to use all diligence possible in investigation and prosecution of infractions of these laws by consumers and dealers.

It will also be resolved that Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in convention urge the formation of committees within the individual clubs and districts of the state federation, which shall work toward the co-ordination of effort of all organizations and community services as a survey, shall prove to be necessary in the local communities.

Backfall Fastid P-T-A. will meet Thursday, October 12 at 3 p. m. The theme will be, "Social Legislation of the 1944 Session of the State Legislature." The study group meets at 2 p. m.

Three Plays For Children Will Be Presented

Now that school children have become acquainted with their new teacher, with a new desk in a new class room and school life flows along in the old familiar groove, the question is being asked: "When will we have a Clue Tree Major play?"

The Parker Memorial class of the First Methodist Church has already made necessary plans required to bring these fascinating plays for children to Monroe for another year. This energetic group of women consider this project one of their major objectives and are now entering their third year of sponsoring these plays, with a two-fold aim in mind. First to give to children in this area the wonderful opportunity of seeing, on the stage, dramatized by trained artists, stories that children love. Secondly, to contribute all proceeds to the building fund of the First Methodist Church in order that both youth and adults might be more adequately equipped. To accommodate the large number who want to see the plays, they will be given at Neville High Auditorium. The three plays and their respective dates will be: "The Prince's Secret," Friday, November 3; "Old King Cole," Thursday, February 15; and "Peter Pan," Tuesday, March 12.

Season tickets are already on sale and must be bought before the first play. Teachers and parents are co-operating with the sponsors in making this the largest year ever in Clue Tree Major plays for Monroe and West Monroe.

Mrs. W. E. Sandel is general chairman for the third year. She will be assisted by two vice chairmen, Mrs. W. B. Inabinet and Mrs. J. Earl Kersh. Mrs. Zell Smith is ticket chairman and Mrs. Elizabeth Lafford, chairman of publicity.

Mrs. and Mrs. John Cecil Currie are now pleasantly located in their home at 3908 Harrison street.

They are being bought up and stored away at the most astonishing rate.

WHETHER YOU LIVE IN TWO ROOMS OR A MANSION you most certainly need bright splashes of color in all your rooms. It is created by an immense basket in the Mexican colors placed before the fireplace or tucked away in a corner of the sun parlor. These baskets for every use under the sun are found at the MEXI-CRAFT SHOP. You will need one or two regardless of who you are or how you live. You will also need a few of the MEXICAN figurines so popular at this time. There is a certain hostess in Monroe who keeps a three-quarter length fiesta coat found at the MEXI-CRAFT SHOP, close at hand so she can don it at a minute's notice. It is flattering, and colorful and a perfect joy to the wearer.

THE BRIDE CARRIED ORCHIDS. HOW OFTEN WE HEAR THESE WORDS. But you haven't heard perhaps that the most beautiful of them all come from Monroe's oldest shop, THE FLOWER SHOPPE. That little white box you see tucked away under the masculine arm these days tells a story. It says that the flowers inside are from THE FLOWER SHOPPE and they are the freshest and the most beautiful that money can buy. The cost however is no more than elsewhere. The name FLOWER SHOPPE on that box stands for something in Monroe. You can rest assured when you telephone an order it will be filled with as much care as if you personally selected them.

Mrs. F. C. Bennett
Hostess To The
Miro Book Club

Members of Miro Book Club met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. F. C. Bennett with Mrs. H. M. Venable, co-hostess, for their first meeting of this club year with Mrs. S. M. Collins, presiding. Mrs. C. R. Tidwell speaking on the subject of "Africa," said:

"There probably are more popular misconceptions concerning Africa than any other region in the world. Carved Wells, distinguished explorer, lecturer, and author, who was chosen by our government to lecture on Africa to the armed services before their departure for North Africa, has done a brilliant job in showing what Africa and its people really are like. He not only takes Africa as a whole but each of the countries is taken up separately and a clear-cut and colorful picture given of each, including much useful information about size, terrain, climate and health conditions, vegetation, animal life, and natural resources; about people, language, customs, government, transportation facilities and other modern developments.

A chapter on strategic materials reveals Africa's great, though little known importance to the United Nations in wartime, and gives an understanding of the continent's future role both as a peacetime supplier of raw materials and as a region amazingly endowed for industrial development of its own.

The unique chapter "How to Get Along in Africa" will smooth the traveler's path and spare him many blunders.

Introducing Africa combines in one volume a colorful narrative with a wealth of factual information that will be welcomed by the general reader and the specialist alike.

He dedicates his book to his wife, Zetta, without whose help in research and editing it could not have been written.

Mrs. John Pracher followed with a review of Frances T. Miller's book, "Eisenhower, Man and Soldier." The first biography of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower is the result of exhaustive research into original sources. This first research performs a service to our country and the world at large in presenting the human Eisenhower. The personality and character of a man and soldier who is one of the foremost figures in modern times.

Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Venable served delicious refreshments to the following members and guests, Mrs. S. M. Collins, Mrs. C. C. Landley, Mrs. J. W. Murray, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. J. T. Fugate, Mrs. J. M. Russell, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. J. E. Whitefield, Mrs. J. C. Lamer, Mrs. Fred Cron, Mrs. Wynnott and Mrs. Powers.

Book Review Of Great Interest

Mrs. V. S. Garnett Reviews The Life Of Hitler For The Reader's Clique

"Der Fuehrer," a book on the life of Hitler written by Conrad Heiden, was dramatically reviewed by Mrs. V. S. Garnett at the regular meeting of the Reader's Clique with Mrs. Louis Peters, hostess. Mrs. Garnett said in part: "Hitler's father Alois was the illegitimate son of a poor peasant girl and for years did not legally bear the name of Hitler, but his mother's name, Schiklgruber. Alois Hitler had three wives. The first two died of tuberculosis. Half a year after the death of the second Alois married his ward and niece who was 23 years younger than he. In tracing back Hitler's background it was discovered that marriages between people of considerable difference in age was quite prevalent. Alois was born in the fifth year of his third marriage and this child was baptized with the name Adolfus. The father, Alois, was a patrolman in the Austrian border, and his ambition was for Adolf to follow in his footsteps. However, Adolf wanted to be a painter. In the first years of his education his reports show only marks of "excellent." However he did not get along with his father and to punish him he became frivolous and lazy. His brilliant beginnings in school were soon reversed. For three years

Book Review Is A Feature Of Club Meeting

The Review Club held its first meeting of the year 1944-1945 Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. W. Colbert on Park avenue. Mrs. W. T. Davis, president, presided and named the following departments of work chairmen: Press and publicity, Mrs. Paul T. Wright; American citizenship and home, Mrs. A. R. Holloway; fine arts, Mrs. J. C. Loftin; education, Mrs. DeWitt Henry; legislation, Mrs. Z. J. Byrd; international relations, Mrs. E. P. Cudd; public welfare, Mrs. D. M. Moore; war service, Mrs. C. V. McGimsey; post-war planning, Mrs. C. B. Braun.

Mrs. Davis stated that she had in her possession the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs Yearbook, which was compiled by Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, state president, and that members were privileged to use it at any time. Mrs. Davis called attention to the themes chosen by our national and state presidents to be carried out during their terms. Mrs. LaFell Dickinson, national president, has chosen as her theme "The American Home," and Mrs. Tisdale has chosen "Unity in Thought and Action for a Better World Tomorrow" as the theme for the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

The constitution and by-laws of the club were read by Mrs. D. M. Moore, secretary, in order to acquaint the new members with the rulings of the club and refresh the memories of the older members.

Mrs. W. L. Mitchell Jr., chairman of the advisory board, stated that "Adventures in Reading," as outlined by the University of North Carolina Library Extension Publication, would be used as the course of study this year. Mrs. Mitchell presented Mrs. DeWitt Henry, who reviewed "The Choice," by Charles Mills. A summary of Mrs. Henry's review showed that the nature of the choice with which Charles Mills is concerned in his rich, intricate, and high-minded book, misses greatness perhaps by only the single flaw of lack of humor, but nevertheless stands head and shoulders above most novels of this season. It is perhaps pity to mention a flaw in a novel that has so much to offer in sensitive awareness of all the influences of beauty, of goodness, and in high seriousness about the major issues of human life.

Mrs. Mitchell introduced Mrs. Paul T. Wright, who reviewed "The Voice of the Trumpet," by Robert Henriques. The reviewer pointed out how the voice of the trumpet was heard and answered by all classes of men. The novel concerns the lives and deaths of men turned soldiers. In this book you will find the weariness, the pain, the skill, the small recollections, and the long endurance of the soldier. You will find something else—that essential tension of the spirit of which poetry is made.

After adjournment, the following members were served refreshments by the hostess: Mrs. Z. J. Byrd, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. W. L. Mitchell, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. Sam Smith, and Mrs. Paul T. Wright.

Reids Entertain At Supper An evening under the stars with the harvest moon shining down was enjoyed by a few friends in the patio of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reid's home when they entertained with a barbecue supper complimentary to Mrs. Walter Schubert whose birthday anniversary was observed at this time. Mr. Reid prepared the barbecued steaks over the grill in one corner of the patio and served them from a table overlaid with gayly colored linen and serviced in fiesta ware. Appetites were passed before supper. Mrs. Schubert was presented with a handsome pastel pink wool blanket by the guests all of whom were co-workers at the News-Star-World Publishing Corporation where she is associated with the advertising department. The beauty of the moonlit night prompted Mrs. Reid to show the moving pictures in technicolor she took on her recent trip to Mexico City, out-of-doors. The brick wall of the patio formed a perfect screen for the showing of the pictures ranging from towering mountains to the rolling Pacific. Several outstanding pictures were of wild orchids, gardenias and hibiscus in all their glorious coloring.

SEGURA TO MEET PARKER THURSDAY

Light Heavy Titleholder Of Mexico To Be Featured At Arena

The light heavyweight wrestling champion of Mexico, Bobby Segura, will visit Gus Kallio Arena next Thursday night for a main event date with Allen "Sailor" Parker, Nashville, Tenn., a leading contender for the world's light-heavy crown.

Segura, showing here for the first time, is described as a very clever wrestler although a shade on the rough side. He is taller than Parker and a bit stocky in build. Bureaucratic Parker figures to show the Mexican champ a thing or two about the game as it is played north of the border, however.

Promoter Kallio said the match would be a 90-minute time limit series, two falls to win.

The curtain-raiser, which will open the program at 8:30 o'clock, will bring together another pair of wrestlers in "Cowboy" Murphy, Fort Worth, Tex., and Al "Tuffy" Owen, the tall, lanky Swede from Kansas City.

Murphy has wrestled here only once and then several months ago. Owen, an ex-sailor who picked up quite a collection of tattoo art in his travels over the world, is well known to Twin City fans.

The semi-final will have an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

Fromoter Kallio presented no show the past week, cancelling his card when Jack Curtis, who had been sought for a match, advised Kallio he would not be able to come here at that time. Kallio said last night he was seeking to get Curtis here for a match on Thursday, October 19.

ARKANSAS, T. C. U. PLAY TO 6-6 DRAW

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 7.—P. The giants of Arkansas battered the Texas Christian University Frogs in the shadow of their goal posts for most of three quarters here today but all they could gain was a 6-6 tie in the opening Southwest Conference football game.

The Razorbacks rolled up 15 first downs to 5 for the Frogs, gained 258 yards rushing to 86 in the air compared to 36 for the Frogs—winning Arkansas gained 324 yards to 134 for their opponents and still could get no more than a deadlock.

T. C. U. scored midway of the first period with a 46-yard drive. First it was Jesse Mason, who whipped around right end for 15 yards. Then Joe Kucera rapped left tackle for six and passed to Mason on the Arkansas 14. Two off-side penalties did not daunt the Frogs. Kucera saw an opening in the Parker line, so he went to the Arkansas nine. Kucera passed to Merle Gibson for the touchdown. Harry Mullins missed the extra point.

It was the fourth period before the Porks finally hit pay-dirt—the hard way, as usual. It was a surge of 62 yards with Gordon Long. Paul Anderson and Mike Schymehyk, brother of Frank, carrying the mail.

From the 35-yard line Lou Bayne tried right end for one yard, then Anderson raced around the same position for 16. A pass failed, but the next one—from Long to Schymehyk—carried on the Frog 10-yard stripe. Long shredded the line for six and Tony Donoho in three tries went over. Albin Houdick, Frog guard, dashed through to block the try for extra point.

RANDOLPH TROUNCES LONGHORNS, 42 TO 6

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 7.—P. Randolph Field's army of former college and professional football stars out-powered and out-passed the University of Texas, 42 to 6, before a crowd of 19,000 at Memorial Stadium today.

It was the worst defeat ever suffered by Texas, for the last time against Southwest Conference champions on the field.

A former Texas star, Paul Brown, came home to lead the game, most spectacular play and run the Longhorns of what remained to be a touchdown. He missed a 20-yard punt, but a pass intercepted for Jack Hall, punter on the Texas 10-yard line, dashed 27 yards for a touchdown.

The Razorbacks' big offensive drive that brought the game to a touchdown within ten minutes of the start. Brown, George H. Brown, the player who kicked the Texas 10-yard line, made first down and Bill Dudley, former of Virginia, scored off tackle on a long run for the score.

Three plays later the game was interrupted a Texas pass for Randolph's second touchdown.

Randolph gained more yardage in the first half than it did in the rest of the game. Randolph's offense netted 146 yards, its defenseceptions 152 yards.

FULL STEAM AHEAD

INDIANS PREPARING FOR FIRST CONTEST

In less than two weeks the 1942 edition of the Northeast Junior College football team opens its belated season here against the Louisiana College Wildcats, the contest being billed for Thursday, October 19.

With only a short time left in which to prepare for the season opener, Coach James L. Malone will increase the tempo of daily practice sessions this week with defensive work to figure out the offense.

So far little can be said about the abilities or inabilities of the present team. The talent on hand is brighter than any Coach Malone has had in the ten years he has been here, and the players have had little or no experience.

A long practice session Friday ended the past week's work, and three kickers looked particularly good.

Getting good height and distance with their boots were Stan Fossman and Don Green, South, Monroe, and "Robin" Hood, Easton.

ARMY SMOTHERS BROWN WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 7.—P. Army tried a first-half touchdown today to smother Brown under a 29 to 7 score at M. H. Stadium before about 2,000 onlookers. The power play in the first half was a 35-yard run by the Seman 37, Bobby Neel, Normal half-back, gathered in the end on his ten.

At the opening of the second half Bob Evanson caught Hagan's kick off and went 27 yards to the Seman 46. Bill Harbour, with the exception of two three-yard gains by Billy Hughes, set up the second touchdown as he plunged for three first downs in eight plays to put the ball on the Normal three. Harbour then went over for the second goal-crossing. Mattis kicked the point.

Later in the third period Mattis got off a 55-yard punt from the Seman 37. Bobby Neel, Normal half-back, gathered in the end on his ten.

SELMAN ROLLS OVER NORMAL ELEVEN FOR 20-7 TRIUMPH

Mattis Stars In Cyclones' Second Victory On Slippery Gridiron

NATCHITOCHES, La., Oct. 7.—(Special)—The Selman Field Cyclones of Monroe, gaining momentum as their schedule progresses, scored their second triumph of the season here tonight when they rolled over the Louisiana Normal College Demons, 20 to 7, on a wet slippery gridiron that had been drenched by rain until five minutes before game time.

The Cyclones of Coach Clyde Funderburk showed their power in three impressive offensives in which they scored single touchdowns in the second, third and fourth quarters. The invaders rolled up 14 first downs. The Demons failed to register a single first.

After a scoreless first quarter the Selman gridgers started moving after "Blackie" Caldwell gathered in one of Reeher's punts on the 33 and went to the Selman 40. "Dub" Mattis, former Tulane athlete, then reeled off 15 yards for a first. Caldwell and Buzz Eastminger added 21 more yards in two tries. Mattis went 26 yards to the Demon 16. Five line bucks by Mattis, Eastminger, and Caldwell put the oval within one foot of the Demon goal, and then Mattis cracked center to score. Mattis' kick for the point was blocked by Demon Tackle Sweeney.

At the opening of the second half Bob Evanson caught Hagan's kick off and went 27 yards to the Selman 46. Bill Harbour, with the exception of two three-yard gains by Billy Hughes, set up the second touchdown as he plunged for three first downs in eight plays to put the ball on the Normal three. Harbour then went over for the second goal-crossing. Mattis kicked the point.

EMPLOYMENT

34—Help Wanted, Male

MIDDLE-AGED BUSINESS MAN OR SALESMAN TO JOIN WHO EARNED $400 TO $500 IN A MONTH NO "WAGE CEILING"

Half million dollar company, established over two decades, has opening for men capable of interviewing Public Officials, Heads of Industries, Army Camps, Schools, Churches, Large Growers and Farmers in this area. Also one or two men for other parts of this and adjoining states. Car not essential as many of our men travel by bus. We deliver your orders, collect for them and advance your earnings daily. Priorities in other lines greatly benefit us as no priorities in our line. Men who were "bankrupt" when they started with us now have homes and security. This was done both long before the war and during the war, and there are even bigger post-war possibilities. There are NO "Wage Ceilings" in this line—earnings are NOT "Frozen." Many of our men have had earnings from $400 to $2,000 in month. These gross earnings are, of course, exceptional. "Statement of Availability" needed from men now in essential industry. We are an essential industry ourselves. Rush name, age for particulars in order to get thoroughly prepared and have some experience and immediate profits in back of you by first of year as our Big Season starts such after January 1. Vice President, P. O. Box 7111, Port Worth, Texas.

SALVATIONISTS AID FIGHTERS

In 102 Languages And Dialects, They Assist At Canteens

"Want a cup of coffee or tea?" In 102 languages and dialects, Salvation Army workers are asking this question at their thousand and more mobile canteens in service all the way from India in the distant East, across the Pacific to America, says Brigadier Willard S. Evans, divisional commander for the Gulf Division with headquarters in New Orleans.

By day and night, on every Allied front, out invasion forces depend upon The Salvation Army for a word of cheer and a ministering hand. Our fighting men, sons of the last Great War's veterans are already singing the praises of The Salvation Army's war service. The blue poke bonnets of the army lassies have been replaced by jaunty overseas caps, but the lassies haven't changed a bit. She lightens the cares and shares the war-time burdens of her soldier and sailor comrades. She is a member of a truly international army which makes its contribution by morale building for victory.

No other supporting corps brings deeper sympathetic understanding or is better equipped to furnish practical assistance to the men who are bearing the brunt of the current world-wide struggle. To them, and to the generations of their fathers, The Salvation Army first of all means a smile, a quinquina, and homemade coffee or tea. Just ask the man who knows you will learn from him that the smile and the taste of doughnuts, and coffee in rain and mud are as precious today as they were in the old France of 1918.

The Salvation Army is practical. Brigadier Evans points out. From vast experience, it knows that human comfort is the primary requisite of men under stress. Early in the present conflict, therefore, this army of numerous lands undertook to supply aid and comfort on an unparalleled scale.

The sad days of 1914-1918 taught The Salvation Army much. The lessons learned then were applied with similar success by the English Salvationists in 1927 when unemployment reached a depth of distress among British workers such as they had never known before. Food, hot coffee, or tea was vitally needed. In that emergency the army converted into human service, use a two-ton covered truck. The first devised mobile food kitchen for civilian and large bodies containing cooked food were loaded into trucks and insulated with old blankets. Hours later food from these containers was served with hot drinks to the homeless, the helpless, and the hungry.

Later, this primitive kitchen was developed into the early stages of a motorized canteen, a forerunner of the modern trailer which has become so popular in this country. In England insulated containers have been installed in the mobile canteens. Tests prove that food and drink protected in this manner could be kept hot and palatable for 24 hours. In time extra water tanks and improved kitchen facilities were installed. Today all this reads like history. But it was news in the days before the production of deluxe trailers.

The Salvation Army in England, therefore, increased its force in mobile canteens. They were a familiar and welcoming sight outside labor exchanges where queues of waiting men stood shuddering hoping at long last the job they were seeking might turn up. They, too, became well-known in poor-neighborhood districts scattered across London and elsewhere.

With the coming of the present all-embracing war, these army canteens have taken on a new meaning. The English built larger and more complete models. Some went to France with the original expeditionary force but only two came back, via Dunkirk. Experiences gained in other fields of war in Greece, the Libyan Desert, Iraq, and Iran and more recently in Sicily and Italy, have brought about still other improvements.

The most recent canteen model is built on a six-ton vehicle chassis equipped to serve 4000 men without returning to base. Since the home commissary is roughly 20 to 30 miles from the camp or from the front lines, the mobility of the canteens has added largely to their value. In addition to the indispensable supply of food and hot drinks, the latest type of canteen carries a phonograph with records, radio installation, a film projector, and all the other odds and ends that make for comfort, such as writing paper, razor blades, etc.

The needs of many service women on the war fronts are also met. Mobile canteens which service isolated places provide an apartment of feminine requisites as well as wholesome food and hot drinks. A nurse in some far away station, for instance, is lured by a steaming marmalade in a mobile canteen and finds first-aid to beauty right at hand. Be it a lipstick, a nail file, or a powder base. It is little wonder, therefore, that service women look eagerly for the canteen's coming.
